The city features a growing café culture, active nightlife, and cultural landmarks such as the National Museum of Kenya and the Karen Blixen Museum. Just outside the city centre lies Nairobi National Park, where wildlife, including lions, giraffes, and buffalo, roam against a backdrop of skyscrapers — one of the rare cases in the world where a major national park borders a capital city. Visitors also often stop at the David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust elephant orphanage for close encounters with rescued calves.

Day 2: Instinct of the Mara, Olderkesi Conservancy

Olderkesi Conservancy

Olderkesi Conservancy stretches across the southeastern corner of the Mara, near the Tanzanian border, forming a vital corridor for wildlife moving between the Serengeti and Kenya's Maasai Mara National Reserve. Each year, wildebeest and zebra thunder through these grasslands during the Great Migration, watched closely by lions, cheetahs, and hyenas. Elephants, giraffes, and antelope roam freely across riverine valleys, forests, and woodlands, while birds, reptiles, and smaller mammals thrive in the quieter corners of the landscape. The Maasai, original inhabitants of the area, still live here as semi-nomadic pastoralists, guiding large herds of cattle across the plains and keeping their cultural traditions alive.

Day Itinerary

Breakfast at the Hotel, Transfer to Wilson airport for a schedule flight to Keekorok airstrip. upon arrival you will be met by the camp driver guide armed with picnic lunch boxes, for enroute game drive to the camp. arrive in the evening you chef will be waiting for you and you can join him to prepare your dinner of your choice.

Overnight: Instinct of the Mara

Experience the unspoiled Masai Mara up close and personal at the "Instinct of the Mara" lodge. Hidden away in a corner of Olderkesi Conservancy the camp celebrates the true luxury of privacy and endless possibilities. Here, the magical "Out of Africa" feeling is ever-present. Embedded in the untouched nature of the 7,600-acre conservancy in the secluded southeast of the Masai Mara, guests enjoy unforgettable safaris in one of the most beautiful and animal-rich areas of Kenya.

Olderkesi Conservancy is far away from the crowds of the more frequented Mara region in the northwest, is incredibly rich in wildlife and worth a trip at any time of the year, but especially during the "Great Migration" from late July to mid/end of September.

As there is only one other lodge in this region of the Maasai Mara, our guests share the unforgettable wildlife encounters with very few, if any, other people. The camp is nestled on a hillside, surrounded by pristine forest, features plenty of privacy and very personal, attentive service. There are no fixed times for activities or meals - the guests plan each day individually together with their personal guide. Exclusive use of an open safari jeep per booking!

If you are looking for seclusion, privacy and unforgettable encounters with Kenya‘s unique wildlife, then Kipalo Hills is the place for you. The swimming pool provides refreshment between activities, and the surrounding rocks form an atmospheric backdrop for your sundowner. The safari tents, luxury suite and private villa, which blend beautifully into the grounds and unspoilt nature surrounding the main open mess, also offer unparalleled views of the spectacular scenery and impenetrable wilderness across the Mbulia Conservancy plains.
